Welcome to the second issue of the American Public University Eagle. The APUS Eagle is a student literary magazine. Our purpose is to highlight student writing. Each issue will include student poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction, drama, and photography.

Submission Guidelines

We encourage submissions from all APUS students in the form of fiction, poetry, and creative non-fiction. We also accept digital photography. Submissions will be reviewed anonymously by a board of students and their faculty advisor. Authors will retain the copyright on their work so that they may publish in multiple publications.

The APUS Eagle will publish twice a year in May and December with submission deadlines in March for the May issue and October for the December issue. Submissions should be sent to apuslitmag@sunflower.com. Publication will be in electronic format (pdf). In the spring of 2010, we will have our own website.

Students retain the rights to their submissions.

Guidelines

Entire piece should be less than 15 pages.

Writings must be done in English.

Submission Details

Include a coversheet with your name, title of work, email/contact info., and APUS affiliation.

DO NOT include your name anywhere else in the piece. This will facilitate our anonymous review process.

Please use standard fonts and formats, and number your pages

Include the name of your piece in the name of your file (e.g. my_title_is_this.doc).

Although MS Word format is preferred, you may also submit in pdf format, but if your piece is accepted for publication, we will request that you send us a .doc or .rtf version of your writing.
